Japanese Advanced Processing Technology and the Original

We, Japanese have lived with forest and nurtured our original “Wood Culture” to use forest effectively since ancient times.

The Wood Culture exists in our every life via living in wooden houses, using wood to produce daily use commodities, and so on.

Especially in interior materials and exterior materials of houses, we combine high functionality with good design, and provide you a high quality living space.

It is our great honor to introduce you our Wood Products processed by merging our traditional craftsmanship and modern advanced technology that we have developed so far.
